

Psychological Service Center
Department of Psychology
314-935-6555

Washington University Psychological Service Center Mission Statement

The mission of the Psychological Service Center at Washington University is to provide training opportunities for clinical psychology graduate students to apply empirically supported assessment and treatment techniques in a professional and ethical manner; to provide high-quality, affordable mental health assessment and treatment services to people in the community; and to promote research on psychopathology, clinical assessment techniques and therapeutic interventions.